Better Yet!

Each new thing exceeds the one before!

The Most Beautiful Work Given to the Public and that of the Greatest Value.

It is something that those who would live and know the life of to-day must have

Our Greatest Men and Women

Who are still alive and with us.

HOW THEY LOOK

AND WHAT THEY HAVE ACCOMPLISHED. THE PACES AND THE STORIES OF THOSE WHO ARE NOW APPROVING THE HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY.

HE struggle is to give something new for the public which will be most interesting and attractive, and yet will be recogaimed as having a great and prominent value. It is believed that this has again been accomplished. It is done in what is entitled:

"Imerica's Greatest Men and Women."

The accessry of the continent has been produced in many forms, views of even so recent a creation as the World's Pair of 1898 have been made familiar; we know much of the people of the past, but where shall we turn to become acquainted with those most promiment at the present time, those who are WITH US STILL and whose daily acts are affecting the whole world's progress?

THE THING HAS BEEN DONE!

What  $\pi_{A}$  impossible in the past is possible now. The enormous improvements made in photography and in all the delicate art of portraiture, the closer relations between the lives of all publie character, and the public, and, above all the incentive afforded by recent on nost computition between the new spapers of the country to supply their readers with the most valuable productions of art and literature, have resulted in what is offered to the readers of THE ALCES

It is possible to-day to tell the story of a noted person and at the same time to give that person's very features. It is as if the reader were looking into the face of the one described as he learns what that person has accomplished. In this work, " AMERICA'S GREATERT NEW AND WOMEN," there is told the story of those living to-day, who have become prominent, and it is told what they have attained and how it was done, while the perfect recent photograph tells how each person looks. All prominent facts in each history are given, and there is a study of character, straightforward, wagile and without has of any kind

The work is the story of the very life, the 172; and the appearance of the mes and woman who are about to and with us, and who by their leading qualities are directing the course of the scalingar's Me to-day.

It is I haved that nothing could be more introducing to read, nothing a continuous inting and valuable. The struggle between the pullicants to between the menopolistic constantly becoming more came and real ite. The result is, that great things have been accomplished and it is almost a containty that the greatest thing accomplished up to the present time is the production,

"America's Greatest Men and Wiomen."

Ex-Speaker Reed, as leader of the minority in the House of Representatives, by his obstructive tactics, has forced the majority to adept a rele for counting a quorum which is not unlike the rule which he enforced while in the chair. In one sense this is a personal victory for Mr. Reed, but it has been won at the expense of the minority, which is stripped of the power it might have wielded under the old rules. It is not surprising, therefore, that there is much grembling among Republican mem. hers, who do not nesitate to say that Mr. Read has eacrificed his party's influence and opportunities to secure a personal gratification.

In the caucus of the Republican Members of Assembly, on the New York Police bill last night, the azti-Plant men, led by Hamilton Fish, scored a decided victory over the Platt crowd, whom Mr. Thornton attempted to lead. The newspaper reports are all agreed that after the first vote, which showed the strength of the anti-Plattites, Mr. Thornton lost his head and nothing but the intervention of Speaker Malby prevent ed the complete rout of the Platteontingest. The police bill, as agreed upon by the caucus, veets in the Superintendent much of the power now held by the Commissioners and makes impossible any deals between Plat: and the Commissioners.

The speech of Senator Smith, of Xew Jersey, yesterday, was a logical and well sustained argument against the proposed tax on incomes; indeed BO One preceding him upon that side of the debate has dealt the measure euch telling and affective blows. It would seem that argument so convincing and so unansarable as his ties con d not fail of effect upon the toughest income texer, and yet, so possessed tainted with socialistic-anarchistic propaganda are the greater number of Senators from Southern and Western States, that "were one from Heaven to speak" the words would be idle to their ears.

Admirable as was the argument of Senator Smith in general, it is with that part of it is which he condemns interrecine war in the parry, attacks by Democrats upon this Democratic steel colored cloth. Administration, in the arraying of the South and the West In hostility with the East for purely mercenary ends, toat sound Democrats, - Democrats who cling to the old ideas, the old practices and the old traditions of the party, find themselves in most hearty agreement, Senator Smith has not vaunted, "I am a Democrat," but his words in behalf of party unity, party loyalty and party patriotism, give token that he is a very good Democrat

The case was tried three times hefore and the Judgment twice rever-sed. On the first trial, Mrs. Weetery or tained a verdict of $5,000, and on the second a vertice of $1,600. At the last trial to December, 1803, the jury diesgreed.

In order to shorten matters, it was agreed vetween counsel to read most of the evidence taken on the former trial at this trial. This will greatly lessen the time taken in the hearing of the case and it will probably be concluded to day.

WORK OF THE WATER INSPECTORS

The Inspection About Completed—Muck Wante Found-Water That Is Not

The inspectors appointed by the Board of Water Commissioners to inspect the premiers of consumers and ascertain for what purposes water is being used and what waste, if any, is permitted, have about completed their work. Mesers. Gould and Marsh, who were assigned to duty in the Frist and Fourth Wards, completed their tasks a day or two ago and Mr. Hirst, who was assigned to the Third Ward and also to the Second Ward, after Mr. Vac Keuten threw up too job, expects to get through to-day.

The inspectors found many houses in mbich water was allowed to run constantly and we are told that the reports received show that meny consumers are using weter for other purposes than those for which they have been paying water rates.

HOW THEY EARNED THEIR DOLLARS Mombers of the First Presbyterian Congregation Tell in Thyme of Their Efforts to awell the Mante Pundname Very Interesting Experiences.

Courch ecclables are, generally erielle teelleb bos teeirb edt.goldners that mortal man (particularly if he is married) is obliged to attend, but the " Postical Dollar" social given in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church, last evening, was a bright and brilliagt exception.

The purpose of the entertainment was to raise money for painting and decorating of the Manse, and to this end different members of the congregation, each pledged themselves to earn by honest labor a dollar, and at the entertainment last evening to tell in rhyme or blank verse, how each dollar was earned,

W. B. Royce, Etc., was director of the affair and read the postical effusions of those who were too bashful, to appear for themselves.

Col. C. H. Shepard gave in verse his presentation of a dollar's worth of peanuts, which the young ladies at the candy table took charge of Mr. Clarence Sweezy told how he enroad his dollar by hauling Col. Shepard home after the April blizzard. and an eventful sleightide on a new hand sleigh.

Mr. W B. Royce earned his dollar by making and baking a cake, and regital a poem, written by Miss Friend, giving a recipe for this won-derful cake. It (the cake, not the poem) was on sale, and, it is needless to say, was all taken within five minutes after the sale opened.

Mr. B. F. Gordon told how he tried to earn his dollar by writing a sermon for Dr. Gordon and how he finalwilly did earn it by selling a pair of eyerlesses to a dude with which to agie the pretty girls.

"The way how not to earn" a doliar by stock gambling was described un several very bright verses by an unknown author, who is supposed to be a prominent dry goods merchant bere, who is well known as a ready and fluent writer.

Another anonymous author, well known on the O. and W., earned his dollar by playing marbles for keeps. Dr. Gordon gave a good parody on '· Excelaior.''

Dr. Talcott's method of earning a gollar was certainly unique and his description of how he did it is so entertaining that we give it here:

GOSHEN'S RETROCRESSION

The Depreciation in Real Diane Valvev-The hitmulus of an Electric Ballway Needed. It is possible that some day the people of Goshen will realize that the village is not keeping up with the march of progress, but on the other band is fast drifting towards the tail end of the procession. The action of the Board of Trustees, Monday night, in refusing to consider the application for the electric railway franchise was of itself an evidence of slowness, but a still better proof of the retrogression of the village was shown in the sale of a house and lot on Main street, between the Orange hotel and the Court House.

The property sold for $2,400, but there is a gentleman residing in this city, to-day, who less than fitteen years ago offered $5,590 for the same property and his offer was declined. Since that offer was refused slarge sum of money has been expended in improvements of various kinds that ought to have increased its value very considerably.

This sale is but one of many within a few years that showed the depreciation of values. Any resident of Goshen for the past few years can call to mind many sales where the depreciation was much greater than in the instance cited, and it is not only in residence properties but in business buildings as well.

Goshen can boast of the wealth, intelligence and high social standing of many of its citizens, and being the county seat, and postessing so many natural advantages, it ought to be forging ahead and all it needs to do it is onterprise.

The experience of other towns where electric roa is have been built. has been that they give an impetus to business and increase the value of real estate as well, and judging from the depreciation is the value of the property referred to above, during a period in which rest estate values have more than doubled in Middletown and other progressive towns, Goshen needs just such a stimulus as an electric railway connection with the outside world would give it. and, as a majority of the people want it, they ought to have it.

MIDDLETOWN'S NEWEST INDUSTRY

A Pearl Button Factory in the North End-: Valuable Acquisition to the City's Manufacturing Enterprises.

Middietown will have a hran new industry in a very short time. It has not come to us betaided by the blowing of trumpeto, but has slipped into the city without the knowledge of but few of our citizens but it is bere all the same and to all appearauces it means business.

The industry referred to is a pearl button factory, which will be located in what is known -as the soap factory, the two etery brick building on daughters are visiting friends in

Apr:b street, near the type factory. Elizabeth, K. J. The proprietor of the establishment is E. M. Ikelbelmer, who is removing from New York on account of the advactages offered by our city in the way of cheaper rents, etc. The wholesale bouse of Mr. Ikelbeimer will still be in New York and the goods made here shipped direct to the house. The machinery for the manufacture of all kinds of pearl buttons is now being put la place, and it is expected the factory will be started next week. Toltty mechines will be put up at ouce, each of which requires the actention of a skilled workman, and in addition to these, employment will be given to a numher of boys and wemen. The fector: will probably start with a force of from forty to Offy baods in all, many of whom will come here from New York.

It is understood that Mr. Ikelbeimer wel give Mieldletown people emple, ment to the departments in which skill and experience are not required, and will also give opportunities to our people to learn to use the michines and in this way doubt- j iess many of our young men will acquire a good triple. The button factory cannot help being a valuable acquidings to the city.

-Your correspondent stirred up a veritable "horner's nest," this morning, when he interviewed President Hock, on the chances of the trolley franchise. He said: "You can ear that I am against it now, I always have done my best to help the railroad people in this matter, but certain people and a certain newspaper correspondent have been reasting me, and they have got my mad up and I tell you that now, I am opposed to it. By their own own action, they have kided the franchise as far as I am concerned. They will not get my vote. I will vote "no," the next time the matter comes up. The other trustees can do as they please, but one vote anyway is against it, sure. They will not get the franchise this year, at least Let them run a trolley ticket if they wish. If I decide to run against it, I will be elected again. You can put it all in the paper, too. if you wish."

DEBORA'S IDEA.

"A woman's tileo air sometimes wurth considerin," began Fishorman Joe, tilting his chair back and giving incossant puffs at the stem of his old clay pipe. "I hev found that out for sure. Now, for more years 'an I can renumber, we hved down on ther Pint, Debora an me

"We fished, raised chickens, ducks an goese, an between 'em all, with the'r eggs, we made a purty telerabul four livin an hed a lattle mite over. But ther mite over went mostly for house rent, so a mighty little was left to go down in ther sock for a rainy day. Howsumever, ther little in ther sock cumilated fust straight, an we made ther fust payment on this place. An by ther time we'd saved up high on to er lifetime we pud ther last cout on it, an ther place was ours. We fixed it up some, givin it a tach when we could, an fust thing we knowed we had a mighty fine place. All it lacked was ther house, an we 'lowed to hev that if we lived long enough. An thinkin of thet we helt up our heads proudlike an worked on, every now an then haulin out ther sock an droppin somether that chinked into it

"We wouldn't count what we hed not for months, 'cause we wented it to cumilate nubeknownst to us, but last spring we got so car'as about it we looked to see how much was ther an found most enough to start on our house. An just then hard times set in an smashed that idee flat. Times got worse an worser. I couldn't sell my fish or nuthin. People said times was too hard to buy such things as ducks, spring chickens an eggs, so ther warn't no use for me to fetch 'em round. But I kept goin an kept not sellin too.

"From then on for about seven months me an Debora didn't make as much as 2 birs. An all the time rent hed to be paid, an we hed to have somethin to eat. So down in thei sock we hed to go every month. At them times we wouldn't look at one 'nother nor say a word. We knowed how hard we'd worked for it an what it was for, so we'd just no it slow an hide our feelin's best way we could. Now, not far from where we lived ther was a purty fair lookin house. It was built after we moved to ther P'int an was standin ther 10-6 like it was when ther carpenters finished it. Nobody hed ever lived in itcarro it was ha'nted. Everybody said to, an it was, too, an no mistake about it We, Debora an me, knowed it.

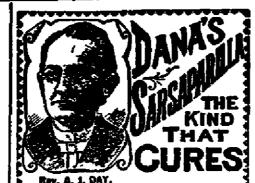

"We lived closer to it im anybody clse an hed seen an heard hough to know ther house was as full of habits as one generally gits, but ther house we lived in belonged to ther man who owned ther ha uted house, so it didn't do for us to air all we knowed about it.

But this is ther way the ha'nts got in it: "Dict carpenters was two young men, comidered well behaved an genteel. Tom was ther best lookan-he was most purty. Ed was uply as sin. Howsumever, they was both well liked by everybody. They bearded up at Miss Discom's, but it was so far from ther house that to keep from losin time Miss Discom would send their duner. She didn't have no little children, but had a grown daughter. Jessie, an overy day when ther 13 o'clock whistles would blow Jewie Biscom would come down with ther young men's dinner. They'd spread it out on a pile of lumber, an while they'd be eatin Jessie would be laughin an talkin to 'em. An then when ther turnout whistles would blow she'd gather up ther dishes an go on home, an ther boys back to work. Jessio was a purty girl-plump as any partridge you over seen an as rosy as a apple.

"Ther boys hed only been to Tree Biscom's two days when they said no money could make 'em leave ther, not long as Jersio stand with her ma. Their likin for her was plain as daylight. They would watch for her at noon an watch her clear out of sight when she went back home. An in ther evenin's the'd hurry up ther as first as they could go, just to be with Jessie. The boys was good friends when they fust come to ther P'int, but that party face of Tossic Biscould see that before they could see it themselves. We lived so close we could tell by their bobs, first at her, then at themselves, in more nonce Debora said that was fromble ahead for them very same you or poor be-

Didn't Like the Notice.

The author of "Lorna Doone" has a decided repugnance to anything that savors of personal advertisement. Only one portrait of him, that which appears in the cheap edition of his novels, has over been taken, and it was with the greatest difficulty that he could be induced to sit for that. Not very long ago an enterprising bookstall keeper in the district where Mr. Blackmore lives pasted up a notice amnouncing "A new story by our local novelist." Mr. Blackmore, so the tale goes, happened to pass soon afterward and saw the placard. He was furious and ordered it to be at once pulled down. There was certainly some justification for Mr. Blackmore's action, for, whatever else he is, he cannot be correctly described as a "local novelist."—London Million.

Superstition. You cannot do it. Show me the man or woman who is without superstition.

Many a lime and oft I jump from my hed, refreshed with a night of restful sleep, and after a plunge in my bath find myself keeping time as I rub briskly with a rough towel by whistling an air or humming a tune. Do I finish it? Not much. I try to whistle it backward or sing it backward. In any event I regret having begun the day wrong. Absurd? Of course it is alsurd. No one knows it better than I, but without argaing the matter pro or cen that is a sample recital of facts -- Jee Howard.

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

The Electric Road-Every Man's Ideal Woman-A Most Remarkable Career Ended-The Life of Frank Akerly, An El-Contlet. Who Redocuted this Past.

There seems to be no doubt that The electric railroad to Goshon is, Zast now, very much in Hock.

"Lbbery man's ideal woman," Brer Gardner says, "is one who would beliebe he caught whales in de river if he told her so."

The death of Frank L. Akerly, s well known Dutchess county lawyer, at his home in Poughkeepsie, yesterday morning, ended a most remarkable career. Though only forty yours of age he had crowded more of life into that short span than fills the measure of haif-a-dozen ordina y lives. He early climbed the heights of social, political and professional success, and then went down into the dephe and was lost to the world for a time behing the doors of Sing Sing prison, and on his release returned to the scene of his supposed enemy. There is a wonderearly success and early failure, and ful power and magnetism about the again wonfor himself an honorable man, and in Congress he has well place in the world, achieving in spite sustained the reputation he achieved of his past a professional success that | before he went to Washington. A was the wonder alike of lawyers and of layman.

When only twenty one years old Afr. Akerly was elected Supervisor of Pleasant Valley, his native town. He was re-elected for several terms and while holding that office studied ; page a splendid portrait, ten by fourlaw in Poughkeepsie. After his admission to the bar, his elequence in pleading the causes of his clients quickly attracted public attention and he was soon up to his eyes in business. He could not, however, stand success. He got in With a fast set, drank more than was good for him and gambled a great deal more than he ought to have done. He meglected his business and his clienta' interests suffered. He got into finanmisi straits and was guilty of many irregularities, the most serious of which was forging his aunt's name to a check for $500. For this he was indicted. He fled and upeged an office in Rochester and remained there entit his escapade had been almost forgotten, for, although his whereabouts was known, no attempt was made to bring him back for trial. One day he surprised all Paughkeepsie by returning to that city, going Into court and pleading gulity to the indictment against him. On June 10, 1885, he was sentenced by Judge Brown to two years and six months' Emprisonment in Sing Sing. He served his time and at the expiration to cicizenship and he returned to Poughkeepsie, opened a law office and started to live down the past.

Every one predicted that he would fail, but it was not long before he beman to pick up business. He was nc. a good lawyer for his knowledge was very superficial, but he was master clalithe arts of the pleader and was very effective before a jury. In stme he came to nave almost a monopoly of the criminal business of the county. Elekindly nature and big heart and possibly the recollection of his own experience of prison li e led a.m to take up the cause of many a friendless wretch, accused of crime. 356 this he did without reward or sope of reward. He was at his best · when pleasing for some fortorn and friendless criminal, and in his earnestness he often emphasized his pleus with b' tears. Very few jurors c would sealer the impassioned appeals.

During the last year or two there race signs that prosperity was telling as him again. His old fondaess for arink and cards returned, but a few mouths ago be again reformed, joined the Sons of Temperance, and made several addresses, in which he graph. Locally told the story of his life. And these addresses are said to have been by all odds the most effective speeches in behalf of temperance ever made in Dutchess county.

OBITUARY.

Jacob Hoffner.

We are indebted to Mr. John E. Corwin for copies of Cincinnati papers containing notices of the death of Jacob Hoffner, who passed away on Sunday, April 8th, in the ninetyfifth year of his age.

Many Midaletown people will remember Mr. Heffaer, who was a frequent visitor to this city until a few years ago. He was a brother-in-law of the late John W. Baird, and when in Middletown was that gentleman's Eliza Bull and Townsend Bull, execuguest.

Mr. Hoffger's death was due to a severe cold contracted on April 2d, when he went from his home into the city without an overcoat. Up to that time he had been in excellent health. and as active as a man tuirty years his junior.

He is survived by his wife, Maria of his term, Gov. Hill restored him Baird, sister of the late John W. late of the town of Montgomery to Baird, whose early life was spent at the older residents of this vicinity, and by many who made her acquaintance during her frequent visits to widow. her brother in this city.

Mr. Hoffaer was the oldest resident of Cincipnati, and was identified to a great extent with the growth of the Queen Ciry. Be was also the oldest Mason in Ohio, having been a member of the order for over seventy Years

His funeral was under the auspices of Barmony Lodge, and was attended by most of the prominent Masons of the State.

Mc Appears Before the Trustees as Complainant Azalost a Policeman and "Calls Bown" the President of the

There was considerable excitement at the meeting of the Board of Trustess, of Port Jervis, Monday evening, when Rev. Mr. Vennema appeared in response to a request of the Presidentto substantiate bis published charge toat Officer Collier had drank liquor in a saloon on Sunday, Rev Mr. Vennema began to make an explanation as to why he had used the public press in making his charge, but he was called to order by the President, who said he was not there to make explanations, but to prefer charges and substantiate

The clergyman replied that it was not his duty to make charges, that it was the duty of the officials It ought not be the duty of private citizens to do police or detective WOLL

He reaffirmed his statement that Collier had drank in a saloon on Sunday and gave the names of two wit-

Mr. Vennema then asked that the refusal of the President to allow him to make an explanation be recorded in the minutes, and then the Prestdent releated and Mr. Vennema explained that the reason he published the charge against Collier was because he had made repeated complanets personally to the President, who had paid no attention to them The Board problem to investigate

_TO LOOK NICE.

ALL WOMEN DESIRE IT.

Some Points About How to Accomplish the Desired End.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY STADERS.) It is the most natural wish in life with women - to feel well and look nice. It is born with signs of fading. You have seen beautiful ladies, and been amazed to know that they have lived fifty or slaty years of life. Have you ever stopped to ask why the few look so levely while the many around you are so haggard?

Look into it, and you will soon find them blessed with a perfect and healthy organism.

Above all, you will find that no female complaints have seared their lives; no dreadful backache, no irregular periods, no bearing down, or any kind of aterus, ovarian, or womb trouble. You are not like them now, but you may reach their high level if you will.

You suffer, but there is a remedy.

Lydia E. Finkhani's Vegetable Compound is the grandest remedy ever discovered for women. It restores the womb and all irregularities to their natural healthy condition, and makes possible a lovely old age. It cures every formsof female complaint, from leucorrhum to tumors in the womb.
